COMMODORE

At the annual planning meeting, held on November 1, the 2004 BOG took office and met with many members. The review of the proposed 2004 operational schedule was provided by the Vice Commodore and was developed with the help of the Lord Calvert Yacht Club Commodore. Several joint activities are planned with our clubhouse companions. As the schedule is coming more into focus, all members are invited to check with the BOG to see that favorite events are included. By February 2004, we will need to have our schedule fine tuned and ready for the Public Relations Governor to include in the 2004 Yearbook.

The November BOG meeting began the efforts for management and direction of SMSA for 2004. During this first meeting we discussed the budget performance with respect to income and out flow projected a year ago. We are on a steady course thanks to our treasurer and the conscientious management attention by the Officers and Governors. The treasurer's report follows in this issue of The Clew.

The BOG discussed a dues increase or an assessment to support our plans for a permanent SMSA site. There will be more discussion on this topic at the next BOG meeting and possibly a motion to establish a modest assessment.

The BOG book revisions started more than a year ago are almost complete due to the excellent efforts of the Rear Commodore and our new SMSA secretary. These revisions will be available shortly for member review and will serve as a guide to future BOG's as they continue SMSA traditions.

For our strategic focus for 2004 the new BOG proposes the following:

- Conduct an outstanding operational year
- Establish a balanced budget
- Refine plans for our permanent facility
- Establish a building fund

Hopefully everyone will utilize the Member Forum as topics of interest and debate arise from the BOG's discussions and decisions. This Forum is the result of the past and present Public Relations Governors and the Rear Commodore. Details were provided in the November issue of The Clew. We hope that all members will take advantage of this medium for information exchange to provide opinions and discussions for the BOG and other members.

Our social schedule continues in December with our annual Christmas Party on December 13. I am informed by the new Social Governor that the traditional Solomons Island Boat Parade is scheduled for the same evening. Please join your BOG and other SMSA members for this festive occasion at the clubhouse as we toast the end of another great sailing season and anticipate the commencement of the next.

I look forward to your comments and discussion of policies and direction for SMSA. I will be checking the Members Forum members section of our SMSA website for your comments. Please let the BOG know of your ideas as well.

See you on the water and ashore.

TREASURER

As we go into the (thankfully) short non-sailing season, it's still a very busy time for the club and for the BOG. It is budget time and we are planning next year's activities, (as well as the holiday season). The new 2004 BOG's first meeting set the stage for many upcoming events.

As the Commodore's opening article stated, we are once again committed to formulating and executing a balanced budget. We look back to the success of this past years operations projections to come in just under budget, and look forward to another great year of operations with the same fiscal discipline exercised by your Governors. At the BOG meeting in early December, we will have constructed the 2004 operating budget, which will carry us through next year.

At the November BOG meeting we discussed the establishment of a nominal assessment to be paid by members at membership renewal/dues payment time. The dollar figure of this proposed assessment is yet to be determined (as I write this in mid-November). But, if passed at the December BOG meeting, it is anticipated to be in the ballpark of $10 per membership. The assessment would be used to establish a capital building fund, which was approved by vote of the general membership at the Annual Business Meeting in September of 2002. One of the members attending the last BOG meeting offered that if we had established such a fund 15 years ago when it was first proposed, we would have some serious money in the fund by now. A bi-product of an assessment would be continued progress toward improving our member/non-member ratio of income to solidify our status as a non-profit 501c(7) organization.

As the guy who writes the checks to pay the bills and also closely watches the income and expenses versus the plan, I am in awe of the amount of activity that takes place over the course of the year in our club, as well as the dedication that your Governors demonstrate in administering their respective programs. Our club is a fun organization to be a part of and we have great folks participating in our activities. I am happy to take part as a member, sailor, and treasurer; and look forward to next year's activities... on the water and off.

Sail fast... Live slow...

CRUISE

The cruising season is over and it's time to reflect on happy times and what can be improved. Needless to say, the weather did not cooperate which undoubtedly contributed to the low attendance of some cruises. It may also have been too ambitious a cruise schedule with two three-week cruises in addition to a two-week cruise and a one-week cruise. I think Suzie Williams, your Cruise Governor-Elect, may rethink the schedule and I'm sure she would appreciate feedback with your thoughts.

None the less, so far this year 40 boats have earned cruise points versus 41 last year and 9 boats have qualified for the 35 point burgee, the same as last year.

Would all cruisers who have qualified for the 1,000 mile award in 2003 please contact me ASAP. I would like to thank all the cruise leaders for their help and dedication. I also appreciated very much the port captain volunteers who helped me with the Potomac cruise to Washington. Special thanks goes to the Cruise Committee made up of: the Mowbrays, Goodmans, Hamiltons, Hoiles, Marc de la Vergne and my first mate, Sally.

If you have not had a chance to see Stovy Brown's presentation on the new clubhouse project, I encourage you to do so. It incorporates two elements that would be very beneficial to cruisers: guest slips for transients which would enable us to reciprocate with other clubs, and unassigned club slips to tie up our own boat occasionally when attending a club function. I think the proposed club house will have some real pluses for all members.

I want to encourage all cruisers to attend the awards dinner in January. It is not just for racers, many of you will also receive awards. And, in any case, it's a great party and good value.

See you there,
David Arbuthnot, Cruise Governor, 2003

FALL 2003 FROSTBITE CRUISE

As the weekend for this cruise came closer, we scanned the forecasts to see what kind of weather we might expect. I did not want to have a repeat of the spring Frostbite Cruise, where I felt frozen before we began. Last spring our Sunday morning cabin temperature was 37 degrees!

Unfortunately, the weather forecasts again gave close to 30 degrees as the low for the coming Sunday morning temperature and I was ready to abandon the cruise in favor of a nice warm bed. Spray and Walkabout contacted us via email asking for comments about the cruise and stating that they would be taking part in it.

Oh, oh, I had better change my mind about what I would be doing for the weekend and I would need to find a pile of blankets to hide under for the night.

Saturday afternoon was partly sunny and very windy with 15 to 20 knot gusts down the river from the north. Saturday was one of our typical fall days. I thought of the High School regatta that was being held in Solomons that weekend and hoped that all competitors would be safe.

We motored Brigadoon out of her slip in the protection of the creek and motored to our rendezvous point in Mill Cove off marker number four at the entrance to Cuckold Creek. We put the hook down in the lee of the point in Mill Creek and were in radio contact with Spray and Walkabout later in the afternoon. They reported taking many tacks in order to go up river in the high, gusty winds.

Both boats arrived safely with Marilyn and Frank Foley on Spray and Lois and Dave Zonderman on Walkabout. After munchies and libations in the cockpit of Brigadoon, and as it got colder, we retired to the spacious main salon of Walkabout to continue our conversations. After dark we peeked out several times to witness the eclipse of the moon but, it was too cold to stay out for any length of time. With light winds in the creek we decided to keep the three boats rafted together for the night. As forecast, the nighttime temperatures plunged to near the expected low.

Fortunately, morning came rather quickly and after breakfast we continued our rendezvous. But when we looked up, we found that we had dragged anchor and Walkabout was aground at the rudder. We all scurried to start our engines and to bring the raft into deeper water. At that point, we broke up the raft with fond farewells and calls across the water to do this again next year.

Thank you, Spray and Walkabout for making the last cruise of the season a memorable one.

Any takers for the Frostbite Cruise leader for next year?

Jan and Walt Rupp, Cruise Leaders

WOMEN'S PROGRAM

American Flyer had a great time on the Island to Island cruise on October 4-5. Thanks to those who planned it. We'll be back next year.

As the new Women's Governor it gave me a chance to canvas opinions on what some women in the club value as far as fun and training are concerned. I used some of that information and conversations with many other members to come up with a plan for some fun and training in our off season.

First we are going to start with a repeat of the very popular Bunko Night at the clubhouse on Friday, January 16 at 7:00 p.m. I'm going to need help with that since I've never played. Might not even have it spelled right. I heard that it was great fun and am looking forward to it. Any volunteers? Please.

Some women have asked for training seminars from the very basic, i.e., sailing terminology all the way to racing tactics. I think we can address these varied interests in a variety of ways. Susan at West Marine has agreed to provide a meeting place on Friday evenings from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. where the women's program will host a series of informational seminars for up to 30 people. We have a host of potential presenters, but before I finalize a schedule of topics I would like to hear from anyone with specific suggestions. The topics will possibly include, but not be limited to, basic sailing and terminology, weather, sail design and manufacture, rules, racing tactics, navigation with a hands on tutorial, local knowledge, knot tying stations and maybe even lassoing. These meetings will start on January 23 and run for six consecutive weeks.

I'm hoping this will give us a regular night that people will put on their calendars. The holidays will be over, the weather will be nasty, but at least we can think and talk about sailing. Coincidentally, it will take us to Frostbite Season when we can get back on the water.

I've also put a couple of dates on the calendar to do some on the water training. We'll take American Flyer and a couple other boats to be named at a later date, and teach whatever you want. We can separate to skill level, interest level, cruising or racing. Please let me know your ideas. There should be something for everyone. I love sailing and want to share it with as many people as I can. I hope as women's governor I do just that.

Because Memorial Day falls later in May this year the Marcy Series will not be held until June 5 -6. That gives us March, April and May to train as many interested women as we can find to race with us. Start thinking about it now. If you want to race, we will find a place for you to learn. It is great fun and the fastest way that I know to improve your skills.

With your input and help we are going to have a great year. I'm really looking forward to it.

Wendy Schneider, Women's Governor
